

Come and work with us!

We are looking for translators and revisers to work with us on a freelance basis oneword GmbH is a successful, rapidly expanding translation services provider with ISO 17100 certification. We support internationally active companies from a wide range of industries, translating their specialist texts, marketing literature and technical documentation into more than 50 languages. As a modern, forward-looking company with a keen focus on innovations, we use all the very latest translation technologies and also develop our own, new methods and techniques for use in the translation and quality assurance process.

Job profile:

- You are a graduate translator OR you have a tertiary education qualification and at least two years of documented experience as a translator (full time) OR you have at least five years of documented experience as a professional translator (full time)
- You translate into your native language
- You use at least one of the following translation memory systems in your professional work: Trados Studio (2011, 2014, 2015), Transit NXT, and/or Across 6.3
- Ideally, you work in a team and can supply translations with revision by a second translator, to comply with the requirements of ISO 17100
